

Personal Information We Collect

CampusCares, 501© or where relevant a designated service provider, collects personal information that you choose to provide or we receive from other sources. This may include, for example, personal information you provide through this Site, through registering for any listed event provided on our site, through requesting certain services or products, by submitting the information to enter a sweepstakes, contest, or other promotion, or when completing a survey or poll.

We and designated service providers, may obtain the following types of personal information in connection with this Site:

- Your name, phone number, email address, address, or other contact information
- Signature, online identifier, Internet Protocol address, or other similar identifiers
- Account login credentials (i.e. usernames & passwords), user content, usage information, browsing history, search history, and preferences
- Professional, industry, education, and employment related information (i.e. job title, professional background, etc.)
- Demographic information
- Audio and video recordings or similar information with your consent
- Internet or other electronic network activity information, including, but not limited to, browsing history, search history, preferences, and information regarding a user's interaction (including location and attendance of any events) with an Internet website, application, advertisement
- Inferences drawn from the personal information identified above to create a profile about a consumer reflecting the consumer's preferences and behavior

If you do not provide certain personal information, not all functionality on this Site will be available.

Personal information is obtained directly from you, from others authorized to provide the information, such as from your employer or educational institution, from activity on this Site, and from other parties with whom we work, such as service providers, business partners, advertisers, advertising technology providers, advertising servers, data analytics providers, and social networks. Do not provide information about others unless you are authorized to do so and you and those persons agree to have all information used, disclosed, and transferred in accordance with this Privacy Policy. By submitting the information about others, you represent and warrant that you are authorized to do so and that you have received authorization from the person about whom you are providing the information, and that person has consented to have all information used, disclosed, and transferred in accordance with this Privacy Policy.

How We Collect and Use Your Personal Information

CampusCares, 501© uses this information for carefully considered business purposes, which also benefit our customers, and which include some or all of the following:

- to provide and facilitate our products and services
- to operate our services, products, and systems properly
- to provide more relevant products and services
- to help improve, upgrade, or enhance our services and products and develop new services and products
- to communicate with you
- to provide support for our products and services
- to maintain the quality and safety of our products and services, and for internal quality control purposes, including debugging to identify and repair errors that impair existing intended functionality
- to provide you with offers and promotions about services and products of ourselves or other parties that may be of interest to you
- to create a “lookalike audience” or “matched audience” of (prospective) customers for targeted advertising on social media platforms
- to enhance your experience with this Site, including to save your preferences and login information, create hashed identifiers that can be used to help us identify you on our site and third-party sites, provide customized content or contextual advertisements, and provide tailored advertisements on our site and third-party sites
- to analyze web site usage, analyze use of the Site, and analyze and measure ad impressions
- to identify and analyze product or service usage metrics and/or trends (e.g. pages visited, functions used, etc.) and develop data analysis, including for research, audit, reporting or other business operation purposes
- to protect the interests, rights, safety, or property of CampusCares 501© or others and to monitor compliance with and enforce any terms of any agreement with CampusCares 501©
- to monitor to detect security incidents and protect against malicious, deceptive, fraudulent, or illegal activity, and hold those responsible for that activity.

You may instruct 501© at any time not to use your personal information covered by this Privacy Policy to provide you with offers and promotions by emailing:

inquiries@campuscares.us . Please also note that if you exercise choice in this manner, you will continue to receive communications concerning your account and products and services you requested, and in response to any requests for information by you. Please also note that this opt-out process may take some time to complete, consistent with applicable law.

To assist us with the uses described in this Privacy Policy, information we or our designated service providers have collected about you through this Site, including your use of this Site, may be aggregated, analyzed or enhanced with personal or other information about you that we have from other sources.

Use of Cookies and Other Electronic Technologies

CampusCares 501© and the parties with whom we work (e.g. designated service providers, business partners, advertisers, ad technology providers and advertising servers) may place, view and/or use “cookies,” web server logs, web beacons, or other electronic technologies to collect statistical and other information about you and your use of this Site. A cookie is a small text file placed on your computer, which most browsers are set to accept by default. The information collected via these technologies may include your IP address, browser type, language, operating system, your mobile device, device ID, computer platform, and the state or country from which you accessed this Site’s services, the web pages visited, the date and the time of your visit, the web sites you visited immediately before and after visiting this Site, the number of links you click within this Site, the functions you use on this Site, the databases you view and the searches you request on this Site, the data you save on or download from this Site, and the number of times you view an advertisement.

CampusCares 501© and the parties with whom we work may use the information collected for various reasons, either on behalf of CampusCares 501© or for the other parties’ own purposes, including research, analysis, to better service visitors to the Site (such as by enabling log-in, providing access to certain sections of this Site, providing customized content, or customized contextual advertisements, or presenting online advertising on this Site or other websites tailored to your interests as described further below), to compile aggregate and anonymous information about usage on this Site and other websites, other statistics, etc. However, if you have deleted or disabled cookies, these uses will not be possible, to the extent they are based on cookie information.

To assist us with the uses described in this Privacy Policy, information collected about you and your use of this Site or other websites may be aggregated, analyzed or combined with personal or other information about you from other online or offline sources. If you prefer that we not combine non-personal information that has been collected, through cookies, about your use of this Site or other websites with personal or other information about you, then please delete and disable cookies for each browser, on each computer you use to surf the Web.

Most browsers are set to accept cookies by default. If you prefer, you can usually set your browser to disable cookies, or to alert you when cookies are being sent. You need to set each browser, on each device you use to surf the Web. Thus, if you use multiple browsers (e.g., Chrome, Safari, Internet Explorer, Firefox, etc.), you should repeat this procedure with each one. Similarly, if you connect to the Web from multiple devices (e.g., work and home), you need to set each browser on each device. Depending on your jurisdiction, you may be able to utilize additional cookie management tools. However, if you disable certain cookies or refuse to accept a request to place a cookie, it is possible that some parts of this Site, such as the polls, surveys, contests, and product sales, and certain areas of this Site for which you need to log in, will not function properly, and the advertising you receive when you visit this Site may not be advertisements tailored to your interests.

Disclosure of Your Personal Information

CampusCares 501© may disclose the personal information described above with our affiliates (including affiliated websites and other products under common ownership or control) and our designated service providers, including for the purposes set out in this Privacy Policy, including to the party who authorized your use of this Site, such as your employer or educational institution. CampusCares 501© may also disclose to third parties, including advertising networks, data analytics providers and social networks, your use of our or other websites, including online identifiers, IP address, and Internet or other electronic network activity information, and the services provided by us for the business purposes set out in this Privacy Policy. CampusCares 501© may also disclose to other third parties, including other users of this Site, information about your use of this Site and on this Site or other websites, but only in an aggregated and unattributed manner.

CampusCares 501© may also disclose your personal information to unaffiliated third parties if we believe in good faith that such disclosure is necessary to: (a) comply with any applicable law, rule or regulation or in response to a subpoena, court order, or other legal process; (b) protect the interests, rights, safety, or property of CampusCares 501© or others; (c) monitor compliance with and enforce any terms of service on this Site; (d) provide our services and products (including allowing a purchaser of CampusCares 501© to continue to serve you); (e) perform other activities related to such services and products, including billing and collection; (f) provide you with offers or promotions CampusCares 501©; or (g) operate the systems that provide our services and products properly. In such an event, CampusCares 501© will use reasonable efforts to do the following:

- Give the User reasonably prompt written notice of such requirement so that the User has an opportunity to comment thereon or object thereto and to preserve the confidential nature of the customer information and personal information that CampusCares 501© is required to disclose.
- At the User's expense, use commercially reasonable efforts to cooperate with any of the User's efforts to preserve the confidential nature of the customer information and personal information that CampusCares 501© is required to disclose.

Please note, use and disclosure of personal information about former customers is governed by this Privacy Policy in the same manner as current customers. However, after the relationship ends, we may use such customer personal information less and less over time. Any personal information contained in Dockets will be treated consistent with the terms of this Privacy Policy.

If you participate in certain features of this Site (e.g. sharing news stories of interest), please note that any information you or others voluntarily disclose through use of these features, becomes available to the public and/or others whom you have designated. If you choose to provide access to designated individuals, please be aware that any information you post will be visible to such individuals for their use. CampusCares 501© is not responsible for the information that you or others choose to disclose publicly on this Site, and neither CampusCares 501© nor others' use of such information is subject to this Privacy policy.

The collection, further use, and/or disclosure of your information by Third-party Providers or by other third parties is not the responsibility of CampusCares 501©. Rather, such collection, use, and/or disclosure is governed by the third parties' privacy policies.

Accuracy, Security, and Retention of Your Personal Information

Any of your personal information collected by CampusCares 501© through this Site is kept on secure servers. CampusCares 501© uses security measures appropriate to the provision of the relevant product or service, such as reasonable administrative, technical, personnel, and physical measures (a) that are designed to safeguard personal information against loss, theft, unauthorized use, disclosure, or modification; and (b) to ensure the integrity of the personal information. To help us protect your privacy, you should maintain the secrecy of your username and password you set up in connection with your participation in this Site's service, if any. Personal information is retained for as long as is necessary for the purpose(s) described in this Privacy Policy, including legitimate business reasons, and/or as may be permitted under applicable law. To determine the appropriate retention period, we will generally consider the following criteria: the length of time needed to achieve the purpose your information was collected for; whether you ceased using our services or products; the existence of any relevant legal proceedings; or applicable legal and regulatory requirements.

Public Records

Certain databases available to registered users of this Site may contain personal information received from third party data suppliers. This personal information is contained in public records, publicly available information, and non-public information (collectively, "public records information"). Your use of this information is restricted to specific, legitimate purposes, and such information may not be used to violate any applicable laws, rules, or regulations.

Rights with Respect to Your Personal Information

Depending on the jurisdiction, you may have the following rights with respect to your personal information:

- To access and request certain information about the processing of your personal information
- To obtain a portable copy of your personal information
- To correct personal information
- To delete personal information
- To restrict processing of certain personal information
- To object to the processing of personal information
- To withdraw consent, where this was the lawful reason for processing
- To lodge a complaint with the relevant supervisory authority

Please bear in mind that if you exercise such rights this may affect our ability to provide our products and services.

If you choose to exercise these rights, we ask you to provide sufficient information, including the products and services you have used in the past, your state and country of residence, and contact information, in order for us to verify your identity and process your request. Depending on the types of requests, additional information may be requested.

You may use an authorized agent to submit a request on your behalf related to your personal information. If you choose to use an authorized agent, you should supply your agent with written permission to act on your behalf in relation to your request, and your agent must provide us with proof of such authorization before we process your request.

If you wish to access, correct, delete, or restrict use of your personal information contained in public records information, you will need to contact the third-party supplier of the information directly.

Transfer of Your Personal Information To Other Countries

Some of the uses and disclosures mentioned in this Privacy Policy may involve the transfer and processing of your personal information to and in various countries that may have different levels of privacy protection than your country. By using our products and services, you consent to such transfers and processing, including to and in the United States. We implement appropriate safeguards to protect such personal information, which may include (without limitation) European Commission approved Standard Contractual Clauses, to protect your personal information that is transferred.

Links to Third-Party Web Sites

CampusCares 501© may provide links to third-party web sites. Since we do not control third-party sites and are not responsible for any information you may provide while on such sites, we encourage you to read the privacy policies on those web sites before providing any of your information on such sites.

Modifications to This Privacy Policy

CampusCares 501© reserves the right to change this Privacy Policy at any time by posting revisions on this web page and are indicated via the “Last Updated” date at the bottom of the Privacy Policy. Such changes will be effective upon posting.